

ABSTRACT

A method is presented comprising tuning a receiver of a broadband signal to a channel within the broadband signal to receive information including one or more cable modem operating parameters, and updating one or more operating parameters of the cable modem in accordance with the received information.

5

Patent for the cable modem